Driving-Tests.org Thrives in Public Library Service Initiative

Arlington, VA – June 23, 2015 -- Driving-Tests.org is thrilled to reach its' 1000th Library Partnership milestone.

Driving-Tests.org is the brainchild of Andrei Zakhareuski and Elegant E-Learning, Inc. working jointly to fulfill a need concerning new driver safety education behind the wheel. In an effort to help new drivers pass their DMV tests without concern, Driving-Tests.org offers FREE online practice permit tests. Boasting 4.5 million unique users since 2010, the site prides itself on being a leading online driver safety education provider.

In their latest venture, Driving-Tests.org launched a pro bono community-based online driver education program as a public service initiative providing public libraries, colleges and universities across the nation with high-quality online driver education programs. Participating libraries enjoy ad- free permit practice tests and educational best practices to increase driver safety skills in their patrons.

Since the program's inauguration in April 2014, Driving-Tests.org is pleased to announce it has reached its 1000th Library Partnership with the addition of Doniphan-Ripley County Library in Missouri. "The practice driver's license tests have been very useful. Kids can practice and then not be so nervous when they take the real test. It has been a real crowd-pleaser," says Rebecca Wilcox, Director of the Doniphan-Ripley County Library.

"We are passionate about online driver education and setting high standards in the United States to help lower the number of traffic-related injuries and fatalities," said Andrei Zakhareuski, Founder of Driving-Tests.org. "Seven out of 10 drivers fail their first DMV permit test. This partnership with public and private libraries helps us to prepare more drivers not only for their permit tests, but more importantly for their safety on the road." Today, the program is providing service to 1,025 public libraries across 49 states and hopes to expand at an even faster rate than last year.
